Craft Silent About Alleged Role in Boston Bombing

April 11, 2014

Were these two men seen using ear-phones and carrying large black backpacks at the finish line of last year's Boston Marathon working for Craft International? The answer is not certain: Craft does not want to answer this question.

This is a very relevant question because one of them seems to have backpack behind as he runs from the scene of the bombing. After the b said that both bombs had been packed in black backpack

The men were part of what appears to have been a team of men involved in tactical activity. Why would Craft not want to address the question whether they were his employees, or not?

bollyn@bollynbooks.com

Thank you

This is the man who seems to have left his backpack behind, as can be seen in the photo of him running away without his backpack. The photo also has the caption: "where'd your backpack go?"

Is this what happened to his missing backpack? Was he part of a team?

In the aftermath of the Boston Marathon bombing of April 15, 2013, there were allegations made on various websites that employees of Craft International, Dallas, Texas, had been involved in some unexplained activity near the finish line. The men wore tactical outfits similar to those worn by Craft employees. I decided to contact Craft and ask them if their employees had been involved at the Boston Marathon. After several attempts by email and phone, I have not yet gotten a response, yet.

The following are the emails that I sent, first to Craft International, then to the company, Hayman Capital, which shares the same address:

Press Question about Boston Bombing
April 7, 2014

Craft International, LLC
2101 Cedar Springs Road
Dallas, Texas 75201

To: info@thecraft.com, training@thecraft.com

Dear Craft International,

I am a journalist asking questions for the purpose of an article to be published. The questions I am asking herewith are for that purpose.

After the Boston Marathon bombings last April there were numerous reports and allegations made that employees of Craft International had been at the finish line of the marathon. These men suspected of being Craft International were dressed in tactical clothes and caps similar to those worn by Craft International.

My questions: Was Craft International LLC, any of its employees, or any company affiliated with Craft International LLC involved in any way at the finish line during the Boston Marathon last April? Was any person with Craft International LLC involved in any operation in Boston during last year's Boston Marathon?

I have attached a couple photos of people who are said to be Craft International in some way affiliated with the company. Are the two men connected with Craft International LLC?

If they are, can you identify them?

With many thanks,

Christopher Bollyn

Failing to get a response from Craft International, I turned to their parent company, Hayman Capital:

Press Question about Boston Bombing
April 8, 2014

To: ks@haymancapital.com

Dear Mr. Smith,

I am forwarding this question to you because Hayman Capital is the parent company of Craft International. Can you address this question?

Many thanks,

Christopher Bollyn

I then called Craft International to follow up but did not get through because they does not reveal its number, so I called Hayman Capital, which is the final company that is run by J. Kyle Bass who is the financier behind Craft International. Hayman share the same physical address in Dallas.

I spoke with Kent Smith, managing director of Hayman Capital, who told me he had seen my email but could not comment on it and told me to call Andy Jenkinson, CEO of the company.

If the answer to my questions were a simple "No", why would it be kicked

CEO? I sent the question by email to Mr. Jent:

I did not get a response, so I resent my question the next day:
